

Monday is the last day policy committees may work on bills in the first chamber. Those bills all had to be scheduled earlier this week, so we know what is still on the agenda. This deadline does not apply to Revenue, Rules or joint committees, which include Addiction, Ways and Means and Transportation. Those exceptions keep most of the key agenda items, Measure 110 reform (HB 4002) and the Governor's housing bill (SB 1537) on the table until the end of the session.

The Senate Judiciary committee came out with the first major "gut and stuff" of the session by having amendments for SB 1576 that changes it from a study bill to trying to fix the recreational immunity statutes that have been turned upside down recently by court interpretation. The bill as amended provides a temporary fix until January 2026 for recreational immunity so that local governments won't close public facilities as the legislature works on a permanent fix. There are other issues being added to the bill, so the committee has not yet passed it on to the floor.

The few policy bills that have not been sent to Ways and Means are now headed to the full chamber for a vote. If passed, the next step will be a policy committee in the other chamber. Those committees have until the end of the month to pass them out.

The tracked bills below will be continued to be monitored for changes or action. As the session continues, I will be watching to make sure that they don't impact Ag West's ability to serve customers across the State.
